

Hugh Hodgson School of Music

Limited-term Lecturer in the Musicology-Ethnomusicology Area

The Hugh Hodgson School of Music at the University of Georgia (UGA) seeks an inspired and engaged educator to teach in a variety of genres/periods within the Musicology/Ethnomusicology program in a limited-term appointment starting Fall 2022. This is a full-time (9 month), benefits eligible appointment with a 100% teaching assignment. This is a one-year appointment, with the possibility of renewal for one or two years, with UGA approval.

Responsibilities:

- Teach a large enrollment undergraduate class on popular music in the USA.
- Teach a large enrollment, undergraduate general studies introduction to music course.
- Teach the 1750-present component of the Western music (broadly understood) undergraduate major survey.
- Teach a course in bibliography/research methods for D.M.A. and Ph.D. students.
- Teach a course or courses related to the candidate's main area of research or related topics.

Qualifications:

- A terminal degree in musicology, ethnomusicology, or other allied fields. ABD will be considered if the degree will be completed by August 2022.
- Evidence of strong teaching skills, minimum one year college level teaching.
- Ability to develop and teach course work in the areas of applicant's expertise.
- Demonstrated commitment to diversity, inclusion, and anti-racism.
- Ability to contribute to a dynamic, holistic music program that prepares students for a music career in the 21st century.
- Must be legally eligible to work in the United States at the time of appointment.

To Apply:

Applicants should include a curriculum vitae and cover letter. The c.v. should include contact information for three professional references, who will be contacted later in the process. The cover letter (maximum 2 pages) should address the applicant's ability to fulfill the responsibilities listed above, as well as how their teaching, service, and research/creative activity have supported the success of students from underrepresented backgrounds or identities. Applicants who have not yet had these experiences should explain how their work will further UGA's commitment to diversity. The committee is likely to request a teaching video, sample syllabi, or additional materials at a later point.

Application documents must be uploaded to this UGAJobs link:

<https://www.ugajobsearch.com/postings/242809> . To ensure full consideration, please apply by March 11, 2022. Questions about the application process can be directed at Edith Hollander (somadmin@uga.edu or 706-542-2701); questions about the position can be directed at Jean Kidula (jkidula@uga.edu). Persons needing accommodations or assistance with the accessibility of materials related to this search are encouraged to contact Central HR (hrweb@uga.edu). Please do not contact the department or search committee with such requests.

The Hugh Hodgson School of Music (<https://music.uga.edu/>) is among the leading schools of music in the region and nationally. It includes comprehensive programs, with degrees at the undergraduate level through the masters and doctorate. A celebrated faculty, outstanding facilities, and talented students build a supportive and rich environment for artistic and scholarly growth. Graduates from our programs have been internationally successful in their chosen fields.

The Franklin College of Arts and Sciences, its many units, and the University of Georgia are committed to increasing the diversity of its faculty and students, and sustaining a work and learning environment that is inclusive. Women, people from historically excluded groups, and people with disabilities are encouraged to apply.

The University of Georgia (<https://www.uga.edu/>), a land-grant and sea-grant university with statewide commitments and responsibilities, is the state's oldest, most comprehensive, and most diversified institution of higher education (<https://www.uga.edu/>). UGA is currently ranked among the top 15 public universities in U.S. News & World Report. The University's main campus is located in Athens, approximately 65 miles northeast of Atlanta, with extended campuses in Atlanta, Griffin, Gwinnett, and Tifton. UGA was founded in 1785 by the Georgia General Assembly as the first state-chartered University in the country. UGA employs approximately 1,800 full-time instructional faculty and more than 7,700 full-time staff. The University's enrollment exceeds 39,000 students including over 30,000 undergraduates and over 9,000 graduate and professional students. Academic programs reside in 18 schools and colleges, as well as a medical partnership with Augusta University housed on the UGA Health Sciences Campus in Athens.

The University of Georgia is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer. All qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, ethnicity, age, genetic information, disability, gender identity, sexual orientation, or protected veteran status.